PRODUCT GUIDE

Many things that are beneficial to our body, mind, and spirit can be found or grown in our own backyards. Isn't that wonderful?

In 2018, we left city life behind in search of a simpler life, and we ended up finding our very own pleasant place in the Willamette Valley. The rich soil, the lush trees, something new blooming every month...we felt instantly at peace.

As we were cleaning up after a big winter storm one year, we discovered an abundance of fallen cottonwood branches along the creek on our property. After researching the medicinal power of the buds, we spent days harvesting as many as we could, then began handcrafting our own salve. This experience really opened our minds to what else Mother Earth could provide for us, right here in our little pleasant place. From there, our agricultural journey took off!

In the spirit of doing what we can with what we have, our family has set out to work together, creating small-batch products that encourage meaningful daily rituals. By keeping every aspect of the process in our hands, you'll know that each product was grown, harvested, extracted, bottled, labeled and delivered to you with a great deal of love and care.

Because it is our mission to provide high-quality products at affordable prices, we manage our resources carefully. This means foregoing expensive marketing campaigns – the people that are meant to find our products will. This also means that we follow organic practices in everything we do, even if we are not certified as such. Following our hearts is what started this journey, but we've rooted our products in science, with a certificate of analysis from accredited labs available upon request.

By opening our minds to the healing power of Mother Earth, we've found our pleasant place – now let us help you find yours.

BODY BALM

Cottonwood trees have been used for generations to promote healing. The salicin found in cottonwood buds has anti-inflammatory properties, similar to aspirin. We gather the precious buds from fallen black cottonwood branches to bring you The People's Balm (black cottonwoods are part of the Populus genus, and populus means "people")

The buds are infused with jojoba oil, then blended with beeswax and Vitamin E. This creates a nurturing and healing balm that has endless uses, with ingredients you can trust.
